Description

A stone farmhouse, three independent buildings, 56 hectares of land, and endless possibilities in the heart of Umbria.

Just minutes from Gubbio, in the hills near the hamlet of Loreto, we offer a particularly attractive property for those who want to experience the countryside, be surrounded by nature, and enjoy large spaces in complete privacy.

Located on a plateau approximately 600 meters above sea level, the farmhouse retains the authentic charm of a traditional country home.

The property comprises a main building of approximately 400 m², as well as three independent and separate buildings, which total a further 380 m².

The land, mostly pasture and arable land, measures a total of 56 hectares, which can be completely consolidated and converted into a vineyard, olive grove, or orchard.

INTERNAL COMPOSITION

The habitable part is mostly on the first floor with access via a characteristic Umbrian staircase, completely in stone and terracotta tiles, covered by a portico with wooden beams and terracotta.

The home comprises a living room with fireplace, a kitchen-dining room with fireplace, four bedrooms, and two bathrooms. The property also includes another residential unit comprising a living room, also with a fireplace, two bedrooms, and a bathroom. On the ground floor, five additional rooms offer the opportunity to customize the space to your liking.

STATE AND FINISHES

The building, completely renovated in 2000, has retained almost its entire original style. It features exposed beams and tiled ceilings, wooden fixtures, including the doors, and some windows with handcrafted iron grilles. Interior walls are made of brushed exposed stone, while the fireplaces were crafted by local craftsmen and lend a pleasant, historic touch to the property.

USE AND POTENTIAL

With ample land available, the property lends itself to multiple uses, from a traditional private residence to the possibility of creating a hospitality facility with an adjoining farm/livestock farm.
