Description

DESCRIPTION

A terrace overlooking the valley
This property represents the union between ancient and modern, between stone and innovation.
Measuring 500 square meters in total, it comprises two residential units of 120,000 square meters each, in addition to terraces and various multipurpose spaces on the ground floor. The property also includes 2.2 hectares of land.

STATE AND FINISHES

The property was built in 2002, currently the two residential floors are in their raw state, while the ground floor is finished. The finishes are top-quality; the cladding stone was salvaged on-site from an old building, and the photovoltaic system is designed to produce 4 kW. Water is supplied by a private well and a cistern with rainwater collection, while the heating system is designed for a hydro-stove, currently running on LPG gas.

OUTDOOR SPACES

The property is surrounded by approximately 2.2 hectares of land enriched by fruit trees, olive groves and magnificent centuries-old oak trees.
The convenient, flat outdoor space has been designed to accommodate a parking lot close to the home, allowing for a green area surrounding the building. The garden at the rear of the home features two terraces adorned with 25 productive olive trees.

USE AND POTENTIAL

This partially unfinished solution offers the opportunity to customize the interior layout and finishes to your liking, creating a bespoke home with your desired style. A swimming pool can be built.
